Portola Valley News Newsletter

This week: Portola Valley High School spring quarter begins.

Overview and Statistics

Receiving their honors from the CRSAC National Science Fair, Portola Valley High School students Merrin Shappell and Amy Scott moved on to represent the United States in the international competition sponsored by NASA. The Science Fair is one of the largest science programs in the country. Each year, more than 130 college students from 27 countries compete to win the special awards.

An array of medals, awards and plaques are displayed on the library floor at the University of California-Monterey Bay Palliative Care Center. The hospital has been awarded multiple fellowships. Most recently, the institution received the Center for Palliative Care Agency of Excellence Award for Excellence in Teaching.

The undergraduate school will hold its semiannual awards ceremony for nominations for the U.S. Department of Education's Student Trust Fund that are put up for awards. Students who have had the best degree research awarded as a result of their efforts can obtain an award certificate upon the presentation of their degree. At least three students will be awarded the investment award of up to $500.
